CESAR MILLAN is a public speaker and the internationally acclaimed star of Cesar 911, as well as the original, Emmy-nominated host of the Dog Whisperer program. With Cesar 911, he brings more than 25 years of dog experience and his status as the most recognized and sought-after authority in the field of dog care and rehabilitation directly to communities terrorized by unruly hounds. In addition to co-authoring six books, Cesar has created numerous instructional DVDs and continues to host a popular series of seminars where attendees learn how to apply his extensive knowledge of dog psychology and rehabilitation techniques. MELISSA JO PELTIER was co-executive producer of the Emmy-nominated National Geographic Channel series, Dog Whisperer with Cesar Millan, as well as Cesar Millan's co-author for five previous New York Times Bestsellers and three other non-fiction titles. She is an Emmy-winning veteran television and film writer, director and producer with over 50 national and international awards to her name. Her first novel about the entertainment business, Reality Boulevard, was named by Kirkus Reviews as one of its "Best Indies of 2013." Peltier lives in New York with her husband and their rescue pit mix, Frannie.

'Lessons from the Pack' is a joyous read from start to finish. Presented by Cesar Millan and his co-writer, Melissa Jo Peltier, this book takes you back to how The Dog Whisperer found his calling in life. Starting off with a farm dog named Paloma that Millan observed on his grandfather's farm in Mexico, a young Cesar seemed to already envision a future with dogs. From there we start seeing how dogs shaped him from his adolescence in Mazatlan to his struggles adapting to life in the United States and opening his Dog Psychology Center, and, from there, to become the Dog Whisperer that would be seen on television. The dogs that Cesar encountered over these many years have impacted him in many different ways and taught him valuable life lessons. He goes on to say how each dog has taught him admirable qualities that can be found in a dog's innocence, such as resilience and acceptance. Though Millan has shown love for all the dogs he talks about and trains, none have been more special to him than his relationship with Daddy, the pit bull Millan adopted from Redman back in the 90's, who would go on to become Millan's spiritual ally and friend. His stories of Daddy make for some heart-warming reading. Cesar and Peltier, throughout the book, share with us some important scientific studies that were conducted through many years of research from various doctors and experts, as well as joyful anecdotes from celebrities such as Jerry Seinfeld, Kesha and Jada Pinkett Smith explain the ways their own dogs have taught them the joys of unconditional love and happiness. I'm very honored to have this book a part of my home library, and I hope you make it yours. Perhaps reading about Millan's life and the lives of the dogs he has come across will enrich and enlighten you.
