William Gray, a history graduate, was educated in the Seychelles and Hong Kong. He is the author of three novels, two films and several wildlife books, mainly on Southern Africa. One of his finest accomplishments is Wildlife Africa, a tribute to the people, landscapes and wildlife in Africa.

This is the first time I have purchased one of these travel guides and first time I have actually seen one here in Australia. Unfortunately for Globetrotter it will be the only one. After having used one of their competitors for many years this doesn't even come close to being as useful as Loney Planet. I liked the idea of the map, however it was too big. Not nearly enough information about internal transport and rough guidelines as to costs. Same for transport that was crossing borders. Maps within the guide were not that helpful, too small. Information about arriving/departure at airports not existing. Not enough information around the accommodation in regards to price range.

Not very deep info on this guide but good for the quick reader. Research complement only.
