Theresa A. Husarik is a writer, photographer, crafter, fiber person, and animal lover who lives on a small plot far away from the heart of the city. When she is not tending to her brood (which includes llamas, alpacas, angora goats, cats, dogs, peacocks, and chickens), she can usually be found either behind the computer writing something or in the craft room making something.

Good starting point on the planning stage for a small farm.

Learning about the animals helped prevent me from making a mistake in getting them. More maintenance than I have time for at the moment, but then again, that was the purpose of learning about them by buying the book

Very concise book has all information to consider for hobby farming.

Goes hand in hand with the USDA 1978 Agricultural Yearbook, Living on a Few Acres

Good read a must for the beginner

Well written and informative; excellent overview but still leaves you to do the necessary 'research' should you choose to take the plunge.

I appreciate this book. Grown in a big city and wanting to learn how to live in the country... this book has some important information basic information that I need to understand.
